"I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud"

by William Wordsworth

I WANDERED lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced; but they
Out-did the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company:
I gazed--and gazed--but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.
2. (a) Discuss the following themes: memory, nature (b) identify and analyze the use of personification in the poem

3. Respond and answer the following questions:
   - Describe the scene the speaker suddenly comes upon in his wandering.
   - Find two similes in which the comparison is indicated by the word "as". In each simile, what is compared to what? What is suggested by each simile?
   - What effect does the scene have on the speakers while he is present? What "wealth" is he later aware of?
   - According to the speaker, in what activity do the flowers take part?
   - What was the speaker's mood before he saw the daffodils? How do you know?
   - Find three examples of personification in the poem. What human characteristics are given to nonhuman things?
   - What is the speaker's "inward eyes"? Why is it the "bliss of solitude"?
   - Of what value to humans are natural scenes as the one presented in the poem?
   - Wordsworth once described poetry as "powerful feelings recollected in tranquility". Explain how this famous phrase relates to "I Wonder Lonely as a Cloud".

Extension: Write a short poem (about 12 lines) that leads up to a simile that suggests your view of or feelings about an experience. You might begin with a simple literal description of the experience, and then use simile to convey its meaning. Be sure to let your imagination suggest an appropriate, effective simile. Also, try to imitate some of Wordsworth’s stylistic devices: alliteration, hyperbole, vivid imagery, etc.
